

General notes

Standard blinds are intended for rooms where no children are present (offices, businesses, etc.). Blinds compliant with the Child Safety standard - to order at extra cost (see pp. 5-8).

In the standard version the colour of the headrails and the fittings is matched as closely as possible to the slat colour (another colour is available to order at no extra cost). For headrail colours see the colour list. Slight differences in the shades of aluminium slats, headrails, cords and ladder tapes are permissible. Perforated slats are not recommended with chain, crank or electric operation, because the cords can catch on the edges of the holes in the slats. This can make the slats jump while the blind is in use. In such cases cord replacement is not subject to claim.

The dyes used in the production of wooden slats can in some cases affect the smell of the product.
